Candidates Offer Their Visions For Greenbelt in Coming Years

This is the first of five articles to provide Greenbelters with the views of the candidates for city council. We posed five questions to the candidates and asked them to respond in 150 words or less. If a response exceeded 150 words, it was cut off at 150 words. The order of the responses printed below was initially determined by lot, then candidates Putens and Herling were moved to the end due to late response (see box).

The question for this week is: What is your vision for Greenbelt in the coming years? What do you most want to accomplish as a city councilmember?

Alan J. Turnbull

My vision is that Greenbelt will further distinguish itself as a unique city that recognizes its own value and plans the future with its founding ideals firmly in mind. Our citizens, and residents throughout the region, will share a clear understanding that Greenbelt is remarkable for its quality of life, involved neighbors, excellent schools, civility and its small town atmosphere. We will be looked to as a model for positive, community-oriented policing, parkland and historic preservation, and enlightened planning. Greenbelt will attain greater influence over Federal, State and County decisions that affect us.

As a councilmember I want to help the City become more proactive toward the entire range of issues confronting it. I want to ensure that our residents realize and appreciate that we, collectively, have the power to envision and create the kind of future we want for Greenbelt.

Rodney M. Roberts

As my vision for Greenbelt in the coming years, I see a beautiful "Garden City" whose citizens have refused to allow their "garden to wither nor be covered with cement," as urged by President Franklin Roosevelt to the new citizens of Greenbelt.

I want to make sure that;

- Our city is safe to live, work, play and raise a family,
- Our tax dollars are spent wisely,
- We have high quality city services,
- Our heritage is part of our future,
- Our parklands, woodlands, and wetlands are protected,
- We acquire more parkland,
- The Beltsville farms are protected,
- We have the best recreational facilities,
- We have open, honest government,

Response Rules for Candidates

Responses should be in paragraph format due to space limitations. Bullet or other forms of listing points one under another will be reformatted as single paragraphs in future issues and we will delete bullets, if submitted. Use of bold face and putting all letters of a word in caps also are not being printed as such.

The deadline, as specified in the letters mailed to each candidate, is 8 p.m. on Tuesday at the News Review office. Two candidates' responses were received after this deadline this week. Because the deadline was not printed in the story in last week's paper, we are running their responses, but moved them to the end of the story. In future weeks, responses received after the deadline will not be printed.

All other rules specified in the letters to the candidates still apply.

Weekend Highlight Is Dinner Dance

by Pat Unger

The crowning event of Greenbelt's celebratory anniversary weekend October 17 through 19 will be a gala dinner dance at Martin's Crosswinds, 7400 Greenway Center Drive in Greenbelt East. Set for 2 to 7 p.m., there will be ample time for a reception, program, dinner, and dancing.

Tables for ten will be decorated to set the mood for a festive occasion to begin with hors d'oeuvres. Governor and Mrs. Parris Glendening are scheduled to attend. Tickets are required, and information is available from the Youth Center office of the city's Department of Recreation at 301-397-2200. Friday, October 10 is the deadline for purchase.

Following the reception, a sit-down dinner with all amenities will be served. The invocation will be offered by the Rev. Edward Birner, retired pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, and benediction will be given by former Mayor Gil Weidenfeld. Appropriate greetings and proclamations will be read by elected officials and other dignitaries. Dance Chairman Donnie Wolfe will serve as master of ceremonies.

After dinner, popular arrangements of songs from the 1930s and 40s will be played for dancing and entertainment by Trux Baldwin and the Starlite Orchestra who had also performed at the 50th anniversary dance at the Greenbelt Hilton (now the Marriott) in 1987. Song stylist Ruthmarie Hempfling will lead the first public performance of the commemorative words for the 1937 Gershwin tune "They All Laughed." The special Greenbelt lyrics have been written by Baldwin and Committee Chairman Emory Harman.

In a recent interview, Baldwin characterized his orchestra as "a fun band," and promised musicianship of high caliber provided by many past and present members of Washington's famous military band groups. The whole mix should provide those in attendance with an evening of fond memories.

January Tavel: Leader, Skolnik Award Winner

by Angie Noyes

A talented young journalist, January M. Tavel, received the Alfred M. Skolnik Memorial Award this past May. The selection of Tavel for the award was particularly significant in that she was then a junior at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. The Skolnik Award, given yearly for excellence in journalism, has typically gone to a high school senior.

Ashley Moss-Pham, an English teacher at Roosevelt and one of the sponsors of the school newspaper, called Tavel a "brilliant writer," who is unusually dedicated to all of her many commitments, including her current position as co-editor of the high school newspaper, "The Raider Review." Without hesitation, Moss-Pham stated that Tavel is one of the finest students she has taught in her years at Roosevelt. Tavel has earned this distinction not only by her academic accomplishments, but also by her maturity, poise and grace.

Exacto Knives and Wax

Her sense of adventure is endearing, too. Tavel explained that the school newspaper is printed by an outside source, but that she has had the chance to watch and participate in the process. The printing process is "really fun. You get to take out the Exacto knives and wax the back of the paper... I like getting my hands dirty," she grinned.

As co-editor-in-chief of the paper, Tavel takes on numerous organizational tasks, works closely with the paper's writers, helps develop story ideas, and does some writing and layout work. With Eleanor Roosevelt's student body of over 3,000, Tavel finds it challenging to include a mix of stories in her paper that accurately depict student life there. The last issue of the paper, for example, included stories on Prince George's County's push for school uniforms, the assistance given by the school's chapter of Amnesty International to a Mexican priest in exile, a piece focusing on Eleanor and Franklin D. Roosevelt and their contributions, a focus feature on dating, as well as thorough coverage of school activities like sports, drama programs, choir concerts, and science fair awards.

Love for Literature

Since she was a freshman, Tavel has been enrolled in Roosevelt's Science and Technology Program, a demanding curriculum designed for students who pass its entrance exam.

Extra Sidewalks Okayed To Serve Some Apartments

by Virginia Beauchamp

Although the city's Advisory Planning Board (APB) recommended against a petition by residents of the Lawrence Apartments for lead sidewalks from their buildings to the street, the Greenbelt City Council, at its September 22 meeting, found a compromise position. Instead of the eight lead walks requested, besides another sidewalk next to and paralleling the curb, only three lead sidewalks, in a design sketch proposed by city staff, were approved.

The Lawrence Apartments are the two original Greenbelt buildings on Crescent Road between Southway and the pedestrian underpass near the library. In June one of the residents, Cherryln A. Hinostroza, on behalf of the other tenants, had petitioned council for construction of the sidewalks to alleviate slippery conditions occurring after a rain.

She had herself fallen twice, her letter said, while crossing the muddy and grassy swale between the building and her parked car. She was concerned especially for handicapped and elderly residents, as well as those with young children who also lived in the buildings. Although a concrete walkway passed in front of the buildings, only a crosswalk between the two buildings and one near Southway currently connect the buildings with the street.

The staff proposal, while rejecting a curbside sidewalk, suggested one lead sidewalk from the smaller building and two from the larger. Utility poles, fire hydrants and the swale itself prohibited the addition of other walks, the staff report said. A further consideration was the importance of preserving the historical/architectural character of the community.

APB Objections

APB Chair Roberta McCarthy, speaking at the council meeting, explained why the board had opposed the request. Their primary consideration was the lack of time to prepare a full study of the proposed project. They were concerned, she said, about changing the existing historical sidewalk trail system and of adding more concrete, and although they were sympathetic to the safety concerns expressed in the petition, the board had had no time to address these issues. They also were aware that a decision to make such a change would become a precedent for other homes and apartments.

Since on-street parking is available to the public at large, there was also no way to assure residents of the two buildings that their own cars could find parking places directly in front, she noted. On the other hand, APB thought that the reduction of the original proposal to three new sidewalks "was very legitimate."

Swales

Councilmember Thomas White, in answering the concern about changing the historic walkway design, observed that the city would be "correcting a planning deficiency." He had been impressed, he said, by photographs presented by Hinostroza that showed the area submerged after any normal rainfall.

Councilmember Judith Davis wondered, however, how the sidewalks could cross the swale. "Would they be raised?" she asked. "How would run-offs be handled?"

City Manager Michael McLaughlin said that piping would have to be incorporated into the design in some way to allow the water to drain off.

On this point McCarthy reminded council that swales had been part of the historical plans for Greenbelt. From personal experience, she said, "if you mess

Quick Response

My compliments to the city of Greenbelt and to the Local Government Insurance Trust.

The curve on Northway has always been bad luck for our household. Over the last few years we have lost or have had four cars damaged due to other vehicles misjudging the bend in the road. On Wednesday morning, August 13 of this year, around 8 a.m., the alarm went off on my car. I was slightly more paranoid than I normally would have been because my car phone had been stolen from this car just two days prior, also from right outside this house. As I walked outside I saw Greenbelt's new recycling collection vehicle stopped on the road. I took a few minutes to orient myself to what had happened. This truck had just sideswiped my car.

The driver of the truck, realizing what he had done, radioed for the assistance of Jennifer Foley, Greenbelt's recycling coordinator. She also noted the damage to my vehicle, proceeded to radio in for a police report, and exchanged the appropriate legal information with me.

From this point on I started dealing with Marsha Thompson of Local Government Insurance Trust, the city's insurance company. They did a very professional job with this claim. They found a reliable rental car for me, they made sure my car was repaired in a timely way, and there were no hassles.

I wanted to recognize both Greenbelt and the Local Government Insurance Trust for dealing with this misfortune professionally and timely.

Trash Collection Changes Monday

City refuse and recycling customers are reminded that once per week refuse collection begins this Monday, October 6. Residents' recycling day will be the day that refuse is also collected. Those unsure of when their refuse and recycling will be collected are asked to call Public Works at 301-474-8004. Starting on Monday, grass, leaves and branches and scheduled appliance pick-ups will be collected every Friday.

All residents are reminded that refuse must be in a tied bag and in a trash can with a tight-fitting lid. Anything not in a trash can must be set at the curb for single family homes and called in as a special collection for GHI residents. For more information or to schedule special pick-ups, call Public Works at 301-474-8004.

by Sandra A. Lange

The revised and updated "Greenbelt: History of a New Town, 1937-1987" has been published and is now available for sale. Co-sponsored by the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum and the City of Greenbelt, the hard-cover book may be purchased at the city's Finance Office, Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road, weekdays, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. It also is being sold by FOGM at the Greenbelt Museum, 10-B Crescent Road, Sundays, 1-5 p.m. A special discounted price is available to FOGM members. In addition to the hard-cover version, the update, which covers the ten year period from 1987-1997 is available for purchase as an insert to the original book.

The book features a new full-color cover and 50 new photographs of events that have occurred over the past ten years. The update was written by former city manager James K. Giese. FOGM is sponsoring a book signing on Saturday, 10 a.m. to noon, at the Greenbelt Museum, when Giese will autograph copies of the book.

Anyone wishing to order the book or the update by mail may contact FOGM, 301-507-6582, to request an order form. There is an additional charge for shipping. However, books may be ordered by phone or mail and picked up on Sundays at the Greenbelt Museum.

Come Help Plan a New Post Office

The Glenn Dale/Greenbelt Postal Customer Advisory Council requests participation at an open forum at the Greenbelt Municipal Building, 2nd floor, 25 Crescent Road, on Thursday, October 30, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The purpose of the forum will be to discuss the status of the building of new postal facilities for Greenbelt and Glenn Dale. Because the council needs to view the facility planning process, the Customer Advisory Council invites people to participate in this forum to answer questions from the community businesses, residents, and elected representatives who have been invited to participate in this forum.

The Council's understanding is that Glenn Dale was slated for a new facility in 1996 and Greenbelt is slated for a new facility in 1998. Although the postmasters from both locations have made progress in negotiating with their respective communities for the locations for the facilities, there are no firm plans for final locations.

Please plan to attend the forum. Participation in this important forum is greatly needed to lend strength to the importance of the community's needs for better postal services. Questions concerning the forum may be directed to either John Hyater, 301-345-1721 or Gwen Moore, 301-390-6565.

Coming This Weekend At New Deal Cafe

by Geff King,
Music Coordinator

Our coffee's still hot, our desserts are still tantalizing, and our live entertainment is still the best in Old Greenbelt! Come join us at the New Deal Cafe this weekend.

On Friday night, October 3, we will be featuring "Catalyst," a trio playing what they call "original music from the heart." Mehrdad Mizrahi, Kate Tsutuba, and Francis Buckingham offer accomplished lyrics and melodies, ranging from gentle to forceful, but always together.

Saturday, October 4, we will feature a loosely-knit organization going by the name of "Susie and Friends." We know that "Susie" is none other than Susan Smithers, one of Greenbelt's favorite librarians, but beyond that, we really have no idea of what's going to happen — and if we did, we wouldn't tell. Come by and prepare to be amazed.

Friday, October 10, will feature local singer/songwriter Michelle Swan, and Saturday, October 11, will feature a fine combo from Baltimore called "The Art of Meaning." Meanwhile, the New Deal Cafe is still open from 7 to 11 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays, and we're still at 15 Crescent Road in the Greenbelt Community Center.

Explore Learning For Older Adults

The October 10 session of Explorations Unlimited features "You're Never Too Old to Learn." Dr. Robert F. Carbone, professor emeritus of higher and adult education, will be the speaker. He recently retired from the University of Maryland. His speciality is adult education administration and higher education fund raising.

Carbone began his academic career at Emory University in Atlanta after receiving his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. Later, he was special assistant to the president of the University of Maryland, with the rank of professor.

In addition to teaching courses in higher and adult education administration, Dr. Carbone has written two books and seven monographs, 11 chapters in books, and 49 professional articles. His international activities include lecturing and consulting in Hungary, the Netherlands, Norway, the Bahamas, Brazil, Argentina, Australia, and Germany.

Maintaining an active and inquiring mind, claims Carbone, enhances the ability of older adults to continue learning. There also is a growing body of evidence that an active and inquiring mind helps senior citizens stay healthy.

Explorations Unlimited is a speaker series held every Friday from 1-3 p.m. at the Community Center in the Senior Classroom. Everyone is welcome to attend, and questions are always encouraged. Please call 301-397-2208 for more information.

Greenbelt Landmark Quiz Answer

The Resettlement Administration took over five D.C. government shelters housing transients in order to supervise 1,000 workers on the project. The workers were paid 50 cents an hour and were limited to working only 88 hours a month so that more people could work on the project. From their pay of $44 a month, $15 was deducted for room, board, laundry and transportation.

OBITUARIES

Thomas P. Barlett

Thomas P. Barlett, 47, old Greenbelt resident, died Wednesday, Oct. 1. He was the son of Pearl and the late Charles Barlett of Allentown, PA. He is also survived by his brother, David Barlett; sister-in-law, Kathy; niece, Kristin and nephew, Jeffrey, of Whitehall, PA.

Mr. Barlett was a software manager at Goddard Space Flight Center. He was employed at Goddard for nine years and was the t'ai chi instructor at the Greenbelt Community Center for many years. He also led reiki healing circles at the Community Center.

Memorial services are to be held at Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church, 3215 Powdermill Road, in Adelphi. Please contact the church at 301-937-3666 for details. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church.

Olney Theatre Show Presentation Changed

The Greenbelt Recreation Department's trip to Olney Theatre, scheduled for October 30, will be seeing the show "Look! We Have Come Through!" not "The Glass Menagerie" as previously reported.

This full mainstage production is based on the letters, novels, plays, and poetry of both D.H. Lawrence and Frieda Lawrence. Their marriage was as unconventional as his artistry, which included such works as "Sons and Lovers," "Women in Love" and "Lady Chatterley's Lover." Lawrence and Frieda shocked the post-Victorian world with their unique lives and philosophies and provided a touchstone for issues that have defined the twentieth century and are unresolved today.

Tickets are still available to see this show. The vans leave at 11:30 a.m., and return at 5 p.m. Lunch is at the Olney Ale House, preceding the show. Please call the Community Center at 301-397-2208 if interested in attending this production. Pre-registration is required.

Margaret Plackett

Pioneer Greenbelter Margaret (Peg) Plackett died September 23 at the age of 91. Mrs. Plackett and her husband, Arthur, were original residents of 4-E Hillside Road. She was a public health nurse in Greenbelt in the 1940s and '50s. The family moved to Florida around 1960.

Mrs. Plackett is survived by her children, Patricia Piedmonte of Syracuse, NY; Robert Plackett of Bozman, MD; and James Plackett of Daytona Beach, FL; 13 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Plackett's husband died in 1968; she was also preceded in death by a daughter, Margaret Maruszewski.

Mrs. Plackett had moved back to Maryland several years ago. A Mass of Christian Burial was offered at St. John Neumann church in Gaithersburg; interment was at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Methodists Celebrate World Communion

The unique feature at Mowatt Memorial United Methodist Church is that three different congregations worship under the same roof. On World Communion Sunday, Oct. 5, at the 11 a.m. worship service, the Rev. Chavez, Mowatt; the Rev. Francis Gyemfi, Faith Ministries; and the Rev. Anh, New Hope Korean Church, will join in celebrating Communion. Three different choirs will perform at the 11 a.m. worship service. Everyone is invited to celebrate World Communion Sunday with the three churches at Mowatt.

Community Education Program Continues

The community education program of Mowatt Memorial United Methodist Church will begin its fall session on October 18. Classes will be offered in computer literacy, computer repair, word processing, conversational Spanish, English as a second language, home repair, and introductory sewing. The six-week program, held on Saturdays, will end on November 22. For information about registration, call 301-474-9410. Mowatt Church is located at 40 Ridge Road.

Baha'is Host Unit Convention Saturday

The Greenbelt Baha'i Community will host one of America's 167 annual Baha'i Unit Conventions in Greenbelt on October 4. The Greenbelt Baha'is will be joined by more than 120 other Baha'is from a five county area and the District of Columbia who will meet at the Greenbelt Community Center to elect a delegate to the National Baha'i Convention.

The Unit Convention has a two-fold purpose. The first is to elect delegate(s) from their respective electoral unit who will vote for the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly (the national executive and administrative body). The Baha'i electoral process is unique among election procedures in that nominations and electioneering are not allowed. The voter, after prayerful consideration, selects the person believed to be best qualified for the position.

The second purpose is for the Baha'is to consult and to make recommendations and suggestions to the National Spiritual Assembly. This year's unit convention will feature consultation on the upcoming historic election of the first Regional Councils, a new element of Baha'i administration between the local and national

Within the science subjects, biology and science theory are most enjoyable to Tavel. Though she values her education in the sciences and is pleased with the opportunity this training gives her to round out her education, Tavel is particularly interested in history, English, and psychology. A love for literature was instilled in her by her 10th-grade English teacher, Mr. Manion. Manion, who at one time was a sponsor of Roosevelt's newspaper, makes English "so fun and interesting," and shows genuine concern for his students, to whom he often dispenses "pearls of wisdom." Tavel will probably pursue a college degree in psychology and also hopes to remain involved in journalism by working on her college newspaper.

In addition to school commitments, Tavel is involved in her church youth group, where she participates in numerous community service projects, and is active in a local 4-H group, in which she won the Maryland Clover Award for leadership. She also holds a part time job in a local bookstore.

Managing school, outside activities, and a job, Tavel also considers it essential to spend adequate time with friends and family. Her younger sister, June, is "one of [her] best friends...and is a fantastic, creative writer." Tavel's mother, Diane Lee, also showed an interest in writing while a high school student and was feisty enough to write an article critical of her school in the local newspaper, raising the ire of her school principal. Another family member with a literary influence is Tavel's Aunt Laura, who writes novels.

Moving to Greenbelt

When Tavel moved to Greenbelt as a high school freshman, it was "like coming to a different planet — like the 50's or something," she said. "You can ride your bike to the store, or to the movie theater," a simple pleasure not possible in her old neighborhood in Lanham.

For Tavel, an appreciation for Greenbelt extends beyond its liveable design to include a thankful awareness of the philosophy of Greenbelt's visionaries, the Roosevelts. The May 29, 1997 issue of "The Raider Review" featured an article on the 21st annual Eleanor Roosevelt Day. The event attracted numerous distinguished speakers, and also featured the views of five ERHS students, who spoke on the Four Freedoms enumerated by Franklin D. Roosevelt. One of these vital freedoms, in FDR's view, was the with swales, you get into trouble. It might be better to build a bridge." She commented that Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) had had a great deal of experience in dealing with the swales within the original community, and McLaughlin assured her that the city would in fact consult with GHI because of their expertise.

CDBG Funding

The project, estimated to cost between $2,000 and $3,000, could be paid for with unspent funds from a Community Development Block Grant, but the amended request would have to be submitted in October, McLaughlin said, hence the need for immediate council action. The actual location of the three walks would depend on local factors, such as the positions of trees and utility lines.

Responding positively to an amendment suggested by Davis, council unanimously approved the proposal to construct three lead sidewalks with the understanding that the plan could be abandoned if "serious" engineering problems concerning the swales and water control or other concerns should develop.

An appreciation of the past ...
A vision for the Future

I see a more unified Greenbelt. I see a city which has developed a consensus on Greenbelt planning principles from which to lobby the County as it prepares its Area Master Plan for 2000. From these principles, I envision the following changes:

City buses will take people more efficiently around town. Parcels 1 and 2 will be preserved in perpetuity but then so will Greenbriar Park and the woodlands of Schrom Hills Park.

I see a safer Greenbelt due to a greater police presence in Greenbelt East and Springhill Lake and greater use of conflict resolution. Our city will have more ballfields, but most of them will be located in under-served Springhill Lake.

Roosevelt Center will be revitalized, improved lighting and security, more live programming and the New Deal Café & Bookstore will help bring the community together in "downtown Greenbelt." We will lobby successfully to increase library hours and will have enhanced, with major support from the private sector, the performing and visual arts programs.

Finally, our advisory boards and organizations will reflect, to a greater degree, the changing diversity of our community. It is a city where together we can improve the quality of our lives.

GHI Looks at Pilot Program In Gas Heat, Beautification

by Hopi Auerbach

All GHI Board members were present at the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Board of Directors meeting on September 18. There were discussions about installing gas heating experimentally in one GHI unit, the achievements and outlook of the Community Beautification program and a first draft of the Newsletter Committee charge, along with the question of whether the newsletter should include letters-to-the-editor. Policy on methods and responsibility for siding cleaning were also discussed, as well as a possible foundation to honor and carry on the work of community activists, and reports from the Ad Hoc Historic District and Labor Day Committees.

Alternate Heating Systems

GHI Director of Technical Services Jay Freedman presented an offer from Washington Gas to install gas heating in one GHI unit as a free trial. The unit selected for the experiment would have to be situated near existing gas lines. Freedman reported that Washington Gas does not require a commitment of all GHI houses to start with, but would be willing to install gas lines and meters if GHI will commit 600 units as gas heat customers.

Washington Gas submitted figures predicting that annual heating bills would be reduced by more than half, from an average of $875.00 with the current electric resistance heat, to a projected $417 per year with gas heat. Washington Gas based these estimates on current heating bills and predictions of how much gas GHI units would use.

Many serious concerns about the ramifications of such a major rehabilitation project were expressed by the directors. Director John Taylor asked how deep into the ground the gas pipelines would need to be installed, in comparison with the very messy sewer replacement work. Freedman replied that laying the gas pipelines would be less disruptive than the sewer work, but that some disruption would still be expected.

GHI member Bonnie Brant and former director Nat Shinderman questioned whether the gas heating would be in keeping with historic preservation standards, in light of plans to obtain Historic District status for GHI, while Director Chuck Hess asserted that the installation would most definitely conflict with the historic character of GHI. When Brant later asked if gas installation would enable members to have gas stoves, and Freedman answered yes, random shouts of "Sold!" arose from some people attending the meeting.

Director Steven Harper suggested that in addition to any test unit trying gas heat, there should be "placebo" houses to compare efficiency, and Director Alan Turnbull pointed out that if one style of gas heat delivery is tested, then all three methods proposed by Washington Gas should be tested, in order to reveal the comparison between them.

Director Betty Deitch warned that a great many GHI members would strongly oppose tearing up of the houses for any rehab project whatsoever.

Freedman estimated that the cost of converting the equipment to gas heat in each house would be in the ballpark of $10,000.

Community Beautification Program

Director of Physical Plant Operation Eldon Ralph and Community Beautification Coordinator Phillip Rondeau submitted a report showing that the program has garnered more results this year than it did last year. To ensure consistency, all the yard inspections this year were done by only two staff members, resulting in 1007 citations, 77% percent of which were brought into compliance after the initial inspection. These figures compared to 558 citations in 1996, with 72% compliance in that year.

Ralph said it is preferable to encourage members themselves to bring the yards into compliance rather than to have GHI's Fee For Service (FFS) do the work right away, because the department does not have sufficient time or staff to bear the workload in April, May and June. He also reported plans to achieve better year-round compliance in the future with a better answering machine to accept member inquiries and complaints, increased publicity for the beautification program, and workshops to train maintenance staff to spot violations during the performance of routine maintenance work.

A barrage of comments about specific violations then ensued from the directors and others attending the meeting. Harper, Turnbull, member Sue Krofchik and Audit Committee member Kathy Weber said that what should be cited were the really messy yards instead of the good ones with the occasional bald spot in the grass; trees with dead branches that were supposed to have been taken care of three years ago; "wild over-growth"; chronic non-mowing; plantings too close to sidewalks; ugly sheds; and stuff from the house being stored in yards.

Turnbull then praised the staff, explaining that as the program is better run each year, expectations of the directors have been raised, and that they want even more compliance with GHI beautification standards. In this sense the constructive criticisms leveled at the program should be taken as compliments to its increased effectiveness. Taylor also commended the great improvement in swales throughout GHI.

In response to a question from Hess, Rondeau acknowledged that there are still repeat offenders but that this problem will be addressed by new higher standards, having Fee For Service do the work, and year-round inspections.

Deitch asked if those members who had been issued bills for work done by FFS had accepted them gracefully, and Rondeau answered that they were almost all very understanding. Harper asked if a contractor couldn't be hired to keep up with the mowing neglected by members, and Ralph said that none have been interested because of the amount of work and pay, and the potential of workers finding themselves in contentious situations. Turnbull suggested that FFS fees should be high enough to encourage members to arrange for their own lawn-mowing service, rather than regularly relying on FFS.

Shinderman said he was no longer able to work in the yard himself, so he called GIVES, and a volunteer was there within 24 hours.

Newsletter Committee Charge

President Keith Jahoda read the proposed committee charge which had been prepared by Director Julia Eichhorst, Harper and Shinderman. This gave rise to a discussion about whether the newsletter should be a mode of communication from just the board and committees to the members, or also from management and staff, or if members should also have input into the newsletter.

Turnbull said that member letters to the editor would provide one more way in which the board can hear member concerns and also make the newsletter more interesting and readable. Harper said that accepting member letters would present the dilemma of selecting which letters to print, and thus possible accusations of censorship or favoritism. He felt that the appropriate place for member complaints is at board and annual meetings. Shinderman said the newsletter is meant to speak to the members from the board and committees, rather than vice-versa, and Newsletter Editor Sue Krofchik said the newsletter does not want to editorialize.

Siding Cleaning Policy

Ralph outlined details of a contract that would clean the siding on seven houses in a seven-hour day, using high-powered tools at a cost of $85.00 per house, plus an addition of 180 gallons of water to the member's water bill. Taylor then reported that he had washed the siding on his own house using a pail and a scrub brush, followed by a quick rinse from the garden hose, at a much lower cost and using much less water.

Jahoda and Turnbull called for clarification of who owns and is responsible for the siding: the member or the cooperative. General Manager Gretchen Overdurf explained that currently GHI is understood to be responsible for repair and maintenance of the siding, while the member is responsible for cleaning. Hess, Turnbull and Shinderman argued in favor of GHI responsibility for siding cleaning, citing the fact that the cooperative could negotiate a better price than could individual members and also ensure that cleaning is done properly and frequently enough. Director Susan Ready and Harper argued that the cost of cleaning the siding should be paid for by those members who have it.

Foundation to Honor Community Activists

Turnbull introduced a proposal to establish a foundation that would seek to carry on the work of Greenbelt's community activists. He asked if there was a general consensus on the Board that this was a worthy project, to have a "Community Chest" to make exciting things happen in a city that deserves them.

Taylor and Shinderman expressed concerns that such a foundation would be very complicated legally and logistically. Director Dorothy Lauber reported that the City of Greenbelt had made attempts to start a "Greenbelt Foundation" in 1966 and again in 1988, at which time only Al Herling responded to repeated advertisements placed in this newspaper by the Greenbelt city clerk.

It's the Law: BuckleUp—Turn on Lights

As of October 1, Maryland state and local police may ticket drivers and passengers of vehicles for not wearing a seat belt, without any other violation, as a "primary enforcement" violation. The new wiper/headlight law, a secondary violation, also took effect October 1. Drivers must now turn on their headlights during inclement weather whenever they turn on their windshield wipers.

The fine for violating both the safety belt and wiper/headlight law is $25. Information about the new laws is available by calling the Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use at (410) 787-5893 and the Motor Vehicle Administration at (410) 768-7386.

Maryland's first safety belt law was enacted as a secondary enforcement statute in July 1986. Safety advocates, along with Senator Ida Ruben and Delegate Joanne Benson, have long advocated for a primary enforcement law, which was passed by the Maryland Legislature this spring. Governor Parris Glendening signed the bill into law on May 8. He signed the new wiper/headlight law May 29.

To help educate drivers about the new safety belt law, the Governor unveiled an outreach campaign entitled "Together, we're making sure it clicks in Maryland."

"As parents, grandparents and caregivers each of us needs to lead by example and buckle up," said Governor Glendening. "Maryland has one of the best child passenger safety laws in the country. But, unless we set the example for our children to follow, we cannot expect them to form this lifesaving habit."

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A suspect has been identified and charged in the March 10 Safeway Store robbery and the June 28 Old Greenbelt Citgo Service Station robbery. Investigators of the Greenbelt Police Department applied for and received warrants on September 8 charging the suspect, a nonresident, of robbery, assault, theft and the use of a handgun in the commission of a felony. The warrants were turned over to the Prince George's County Sheriff's office for service.

An assault with a motor vehicle was reported at Beltway Plaza. The victim, a volunteer fire fighter, after telling a motorist that he could not park in a fire lane, was cursed at and struck in the legs when the suspect moved his car forward. The suspect then exited the vehicle and a female passenger drove the vehicle to the back of the plaza. The unoccupied vehicle was later located by an officer. The suspect is described as a black male, age 25, 6', 170 lbs., black hair, wearing a blue and red nylon sweat suit.

Two students walking home from ERHS on September 19 were followed by two suspects. One of the suspects struck the victim in the back of the head and then in the mouth, cutting his lip. The victim's sister ran toward their home. When the victim tried to run, the second suspect struck the victim in the chest. A third suspect appeared and held the first two suspects book bags and watched the assault. The victim broke away from and eluded the suspects. He was treated at Doctors Community Hospital for a cut to his lip. The victim reported that three days earlier, the first two suspects struck him with their fists after asking for money. The suspect who struck the victim in the head and mouth is described as a black male, 16 to 18 years of age, 6'3", thin build, black braided hair, brown eyes, cast on his right arm, wearing a black T shirt, and dark sweat pants. The suspect who struck the victim in the chest is described as black male, 16 to 18 years of age, 5'5", medium build, black braided collar length hair, brown eyes, wearing a black T shirt and green sweat pants. The third suspect is described as white male, 5'5", heavy set, wearing a red T shirt and blue jean shorts.

An assault victim reported that while standing with friends behind 8220 Canning Terrace near the playground, he was shot with a "BB." No one was seen in the area. The victim was treated for his injury by the fire board.

A strong arm robbery was reported in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Terrace on September 19. The victim, when walking to his apartment was approached from behind. The suspect demanded and obtained his wallet. A second suspect was noticed and heard laughing as the first suspect struck the victim in the head with his fist. The first suspect is described as a black male, early 20s, 5'7", thin build, black hair, clean shaven, wearing thin framed octagonal shaped glasses, a white T shirt and dark pants. The second suspect is described as a black male, medium build, black hair, wearing a white T shirt and dark pants. The victim did not require treatment for the blow to his head.

On September 24, officers responded to a residence in the 6200 block of Breezewood Court for a report of an armed robbery. While walking to his building, two suspects approached him, demanded and took his money. One suspect had a gun in his hand. The victim fled to his home. The suspects are described as black males, 5'6"-8", thin builds, dark clothing and knit caps. The suspect carrying the dark hand gun was wearing glasses.

Another armed robbery occurred the same evening in the 7900 block of Mandan Road. As the victim was walking to her residence, she saw two suspects. One man, carrying a black handgun, approached her and demanded money. The victim attempted to stall, and the second suspect struck her in the face, causing a laceration above her eye. Both suspects fled and are described as black males, thin to medium builds, 5' 6"-7", wearing all dark clothing. The suspect with the handgun was wearing glasses. The victim was treated by the fire department at the scene, declining transport to the hospital.

Photographic equipment and a cellular phone were reported stolen from a residence in the 5800 block of Cherrywood Terrace. Entry was gained by forcing open the front door.

Two residences under construction, in the 6700 block of Lake Park Dr., and 6700 block of Village Park Dr., had appliances taken.

Home electronic equipment was reported taken from a residence in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway. The method of entry is unknown.

Theft of building materials from a construction site in the 6700 block of Springcrest Dr. was reported.

A cab driver dropped off two suspects in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway. Both suspects walked away saying they would return with the fare, but did not. They are described as black males: one was 5'5", 140 lbs., with black hair and brown eyes, and the other was 5'7", 160 lbs., black hair and brown eyes.

An unattended handbag was stolen from the lobby of the Post Office at Centerway.

A search of an individual on several open warrants revealed him to be in possession of a quantity of suspected marijuana. A nonresident, he was later arrested and charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

A Metro Transit officer observed two juveniles in a culvert pipe under the Metro track bed. The juveniles attempted to flee and dropped a baggie of suspected marijuana. The nonresident youths were arrested for trespassing and possession of marijuana.

A nonresident female was found passed out in a vehicle on the ramp from I-95 to Kenilworth Ave. She had fresh track marks on her arms and a hypodermic syringe was located inside the vehicle. She was arrested and charged with possession of CDS paraphernalia.

A Greenbelt male resident was arrested and charged with controlled dangerous substance paraphernalia and driving while suspended when stopped in his vehicle at Beltway Plaza. He was released on citations pending trial.

A nonresident, driving a suspicious vehicle at Beltway Plaza, was stopped and was found trying to hide an open alcoholic beverage. He was arrested and charged.

Two juveniles, believed to be truant, ran from an officer in the area behind the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway on September 23. One juvenile, an ERHS student, was located and found to be in possession of a pack of cigarettes. The nonresident juvenile was arrested and charged with possession of tobacco products.

A container of pepper spray was found in a student's purse following a verbal argument at ERHS. The student, a resident, became disorderly when taken to the Dean's office. She broke the Dean's glass desk top after hearing that she was going to be expelled. The student was not able to calm down, resisted arrest by the School Resource Officer, and disrupted the activities of others in the area. Arrested for possession of pepper spray by a juvenile, malicious destruction of property, disruption of school activities, and resisting arrest, the student was released to the custody of a grandparent pending action by the Juvenile Justice System.

On September 20 officers responded to the 400 block of Ridge Rd. for a report of a domestic disturbance where both parties had assaulted each other. Both parties, one a resident, were arrested and charged with assault.

On September 23 officers responded to the Springhill Lake rental office to assist the Fire Department with a forced entry. Investigation revealed that unknown suspect(s) had set the bushes in front of the building on fire, and the fire had damaged the front of the building.

The theft of a bicycle was reported at Centerway. The suspect stole the bike after the victim refused to steal a pack of cigarettes for him. An officer spotted the suspect, who fled into his apartment in the 50 block of Crescent Rd. The suspect refused to answer the door and the victim's bicycle was recovered from the suspect's balcony. Since the suspect was not arrested, a request was made to have the State's Attorney's office issue a petition charging the suspect, a 15 year old, with theft.

Board of Education Hears ERHS Deserves Better

by Mary Moien

A small, but dedicated, group of parents participated in a Prince George's County Board of Education hearing on September 24 at Eleanor Roosevelt. This hearing was one of three meetings in various sections of the county called by Board of Education Superintendent Dr. Jerome Clark to seek early input to the school systems' 1998-99 budget process. Dr. Clark was not present at the meeting which was chaired by Louise Waynant, deputy superintendent and James W. Beall, chief divisional administrator, Budget, Finance and Management. Both Dr. Gerald Boardman, chief educational administrator of the ERHS cluster of schools, and Dean Michael Reidy, ERHS, were in the audience.

There were approximately a dozen speakers with four of them representing ERHS parents and organizations. In addition, there were parents presenting testimony from schools in Laurel and Calverton, among other locales. No other Greenbelt area schools were represented. Roosevelt was represented by the Parent, Teachers, and Student Association (PTSA), its Political Action Committee, as well as by individual parents.

Nancy Boardman, Chair, ERHS PTSA Political Action Committee, reminded the Board of Education that the committee had spoken last year before the Board of Education, the School Board, the county executive, and the county council. The same four major needs addressed last year are still pertinent issues. The issues are:

1. Significant salary increases for teachers this year are needed. There has been no cost of living increase since 1995 and budgeting $20 million for raises this year is a top priority.

2. ERHS teaching staff continues to be overworked. Roosevelt teachers are responsible for six classes a day where teachers at other schools are responsible for five classes. To remedy this, ERHS needs another 23 teaching positions, but Boardman asked for a minimum of five for the current school year.

3. The final increment of funding for the Comprehensive School Initiative needs to be fully funded. Two-thirds of ERHS students are in the comprehensive program and all students take some comprehensive courses; so this funding affects all students.

4. There will be a new Science and Technology school in the county, and the ERHS parents want to be assured that both Oxen Hill and ERHS have the same state-of-the-art programs and equipment as the new school.

Boardman mentioned an additional area that she has a personal interest in - character education. She recommended that the Board of Education investigate a program in character education in the county schools.

Luong Vinh The, PTSA member and parent, also spoke reiterating the four topics that Boardman had emphasized. Timothy Tilghman, an ERHS parent, was the final speaker of the night. In addition to topics already discussed, Tilghman recounted stories of students with no lockers, classes in temporary buildings, and students eating lunch shortly after breakfast or late in the afternoon because the cafeteria cannot accommodate the student population.

Tilghman stressed that ERHS deserves to be treated better in the budget because it gives the county a good return on its investment. One quarter of scholarship dollars earned by the county's class of 1997 were earned by Roosevelt students. ERHS SAT scores were the highest in the county, well above the county and national averages. Countering a possible objection that too much money cannot be dedicated to a District 2 school, Tilghman indicated that 60 percent of students come from beyond the District 2 boundaries. "Rather than take a buck away from Roosevelt, why not make the rest of our schools look like Roosevelt," he concluded.

Tutoring Help in SHL

The Greenbelt Recreation Department's new academic programs are underway at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center. These programs include the Greenbelt Moving Ahead Program (GMA) for teenagers, which started Sept. 13. This program runs from 10 a.m. to noon every Saturday during the school year and provides tutoring in math, science, English and other subjects; and information on and preparation for SAT exams; information on two- and four-year colleges and on availability of financial aid, with assistance in filling out applications. The Recreation Department also offers tutoring for students in grades 1 - 12 and the Homework Club for students in grades 1 - 12, where students are assisted in doing homework assignments. These two programs started on Sept. 15 and meet on Mondays from 2:30 - 4:30 p.m. during the school year.

The GMA program is being staffed by volunteers Larry and Lil Goldberg, and volunteers from the University of Maryland Academic Achievement "Returning Athletes" program, as well as tutors from Eleanor Roosevelt High School. The returning athletes are David Mysel, who was a pitcher for the University of Maryland baseball team and more recently was drafted by the Detroit Tigers of the American League, and Orlando Strozier, a former quarterback for the University of Maryland football team. Crystal Hillian is one student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School who provides valuable tutoring services as a way of performing her community service.

Parent volunteers have assisted in the program. Students and adult volunteers continue to be needed. Persons interested in assisting should contact Janet Goldberg at 301-397-2200.

The Sound Scene

Who is Geff King? He's the man behind the music at the New Deal Cafe. On Friday, September 19, Geff was in front making the music for a change. Geff, along with Matt Levine, gave everyone at the New Deal an evening of music, covering Honky Tonk, Rock-a-Billy, Folk/Country and good ol' C & W. Geff and Mike go back a ways with each other and playing music together. Both play guitar, with Geff singing the lead and Matt, "a third up from there." In the past, I've sometimes had a problem with some of the songs Geff chose to sing. Friday night was a nice mix of songs, which were well done. Since the two are not an established duo, I was surprised at how well they played together. They offered a remarkable music version of "I'll Take the First 16, You Take the Next and, I'll See You at the Finish." "Honky Tonk 101" is one of the songs that had some in the audience tapping their feet. Merle Haggert and George Jones were two C & W legends that King and Levine performed, and King almost sounded like the original.

Both gave the audience their money's worth Friday night. As always, if you missed it — maybe next time.

CANDIDATES' RESPONSES

- We expand our Police Bicycle Patrol program,
- We get our own planning and zoning authority,
- City services and facilities are equitably distributed,
- All of our citizens can work together to achieve these goals, and many more.

Thomas X. White

It is easy to describe a vision, but difficult to make it happen. Greenbelt, in many ways, is a city of vision, considering its origin as a planned community and a bold social experiment. Because we value Greenbelt's past, we think more of our future, with a view to preserve the legacy.

My vision for Greenbelt is of a safe, economically healthy, tolerant, caring, aesthetically pleasing, environmentally friendly and sustainable city for the 21st century.

To realize that vision I want to assure that City Council invests in a well considered strategic plan for achieving community-wide goals. That plan should include an emphasis on programs for Greenbelt's young people; continue strong, unified efforts to protect Greenbelt from undesirable (dense) development and ill-conceived transportation projects; preserve the remaining green belt; and have these and other worthy programs supported by a sound budget and fiscal policy. Re-elect Tom White!

Judith F. Davis

My vision for Greenbelt's future is the same as when I first ran for Council in 1993. I take pride in being part of a community that works together to solve whatever problems come its way. Problems may become more daunting, but they will not be insurmountable if our citizens question, speak up, and actively participate. For 60 years, Greenbelters have met crises with energy and perseverance. That is our model.

To encourage this, I will continue my attempts to unify the various neighborhoods and ensure that each is treated equitably. Linking them with trails and bike lanes, having work sessions in areas other than Historic Greenbelt, funding recreation programs for all ages, and encouraging a greater diversity of citizens to volunteer for City committees are some of my goals. Greenbelt is our city, belonging to all of us, and will continue to be so if we all work together.

Edward V.J. Potens

My goal for Greenbelt has always been to provide our citizens with a safe and sound city government. My vision reflects much of the Greenbelt community consensus developed over the years.

- Continue to foster the ideals and quality of life envisioned in the planned community concept which established Greenbelt in 1937;
- Provide a higher level of service in all city functions than does the county;
- Become known as one of the safest locations in the metro area;
- Encourage and welcome diversity as an integrated, multi-cultural community;

- Protect the legacy of the "green belt," through acquiring and protecting open space;
- Protect sensitive environmental areas within and around our city; and
- Maintain tax rates at the lowest possible levels consistent with community needs.

I am committed to providing strong leadership, within the Greenbelt community consensus, toward dynamic, progressive policies which advance Greenbelt's status as one of America's model cities.

Konrad Herling

My vision is derived from a set of core principles, principles which I believe are consistent with our town's original planning principles which we celebrate this year. Simply put, they are (1) safe and easy access via from and to our educational, recreational, commercial, civic and residential areas; (2) a commitment to preserving our environment; (3) equitable distribution of services throughout town; (4) safe neighborhoods; (5) a continued commitment to enhance our recreational and cultural programming, as well as maintaining and enhancing library services; (6) a meaningful outreach program to all of our citizens, and particularly our newcomers, which would encourage their involvement with our organizations and advisory boards; and (7) pursuing the skills and funds from our business community to assist the city in funding larger projects, e.g., establishing an intra-city transportation system.

GCC Annual Meeting To Be Held Oct. 25

The Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative (GCC) will hold its next annual meeting on Saturday, October 25 at 10 a.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room (second floor) of the Greenbelt Community Center. Coffee will be served at 10 and the meeting will start promptly at 10:15. Twenty-five members constitutes a quorum. (In the absence of a quorum, those present on Oct. 25 can schedule another meeting, which can proceed even in the absence of a quorum.)

The agenda includes reports from the chairman, the treasurer and the supermarket manager.

Terms expire for two members of the Board of Directors — Paul Rall and Dorrie Bates. Both are seeking re-election. The other board members are: Jim Cassels, Mike Burchick, Leta Mach, Tom Lammons and Joe Timer.

Any other voting member interested in serving on the board must submit a nomination petition with the signatures of five other members to the Nominations Committee (Tom Lammons or Mike Burchick) at least 20 days prior to the annual meeting. Nominations petitions are available at the Co-op's office in the supermarket.

Soil was moved from the stockpile near the free play area in Schrom Hills Park to construct a berm between Greenbrook Lake and Hanover Parkway. Posts were installed for election signs.

City Notes

Work was done on the Greenbrook Lake project including removal of hazardous trees. The first of two berms was completed using dirt that had been excavated earlier from the site. Stone check-dams in the stream feeding the lake were completed. This will slow erosion and allow silt to settle out of the water before it enters the lake.

Brush and ivy were cleared from the path between 4 and 6 courts of Ridge Road. Bumper curbs were reinstalled in the Co-op parking lot. Potholes were repaired around the city.

A Greenbelt Gardener

by Rosie Rhubarb

The mild weather of September and early October makes this one of the finest times of the year to be outside and in the garden. The sense that all the delight of the summer garden will soon be swept away makes this time of year all the more poignant. The first frost will come within weeks and kill all the annual plants. So enjoy the garden while it still looks somewhat like it did during the summer.

The cooler days may bring some plants into a last flush of produce, enough to harvest for awhile yet. Annual flowers will continue blooming till frost kills them and some will look good right up until the end.

The amount of rainfall is still running below average despite the recent rainy days. So keep an eye on plants that dry out quickly, such as potted plants or those planted in dry and hot spots. Water regularly those plants planted during the last year that will be a permanent fixture to the yard. Many trees and shrubs can stand a lot of dryness, but all plants need extra care when they are young.

Overall this past growing season had some good points to it, especially overall low humidity and few hot spells. There seemed to be less tomato diseases affecting some local gardens, for example, and some flowers bloomed longer than usual. In my garden phlox and black-eyed-susans are still in bloom this late in the season.

The real drawback of this year was the drought. This meant decreased production of both vegetables and flowers. Also more watering than usual had to be done. Well, every year is different and it is interesting to see how plants respond. For example, plants that did well in this year's drought conditions are good candidates for a low maintenance garden any year. House plants that spent the summer outside should be brought inside during the next weeks. These warmth loving plants do not like the cool nights. Do a little preventive maintenance by checking for insects before bringing them inside. Check leaves for bugs, wipe off dirt, and remove weeds and debris. To get rid of bugs in the soil I briefly submerge the pot in a bucket of clean warm water (about ten minutes) to above the soil line. The bugs will crawl out to the surface of the pot and lower leaves and stems. When the pot is lifted out of the water quickly pick off the bugs before they have a chance to crawl back in the pot. I seldom find more than the occasional ant, slug or mealy bug crawling out of the pot.
